

Charter Insurance

All boats are insured against:

- | |
|---|
| o Risks arising from liability to third parties and damage to hull, machinery and equipment |
| o Third party liability |
| o Sea pollution liability |
| o A deductible provision is applied, depending on the yachts value. |

Deposit Insurance

Charter yachts usually have fully comprehensive hull insurance. The charter company and its insurance company will usually have agreed a deductible (retention) payable in the event of damage occurring.

The deductible normally corresponds to the security deposit paid by the charterer. If damage is sustained by the yacht during the sailing trip, the charter company is entitled to retain all or part of the security deposit paid. This guarantee insurance for charter security deposits cover this financial risk.
